

Red Radio Still Since Demand For Fair Play

Report Communists Digging In Around City Despite Request

SEOUL, Korea, July 14 (Saturday) (AP)—Communist radios remained silent today on Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway's demand for fair play if the Kaesong armistice talks are to be resumed.

More than 24 hours after the Allied supreme commander told the Communists to pull their troops out of Kaesong and show other evidence of good faith, the Red radio had not replied.

The Red China English-language broadcast carried, instead, a repeat of an earlier Communist reply to Vice-Admiral C. Turner's Thursday message regarding admittance of Allied correspondents to Kaesong.

REDS DIG IN

(Reuters News Agency reported in a Seoul dispatch that Eighth Army reports showed that the Reds were consolidating their grip on Kaesong. The dispatch added that small Red units were seen digging in more than five miles south of Kaesong which would be outside the five-mile neutral zone demanded by Ridgway.)

Ridgway's message, with firm conditions for resumption of the armistice talks, still was unanswered at 2 p.m. (9 p.m., P.D.T. Friday).

Allied armistice delegates waited, meanwhile, at an advanced United Nations peace camp. Six helicopters were ready to carry delegates and their aides to Kaesong.

Since shortly after 1:15 p.m. Friday (8:15 p.m. P.D.T. Thursday), the next move has been up to the Reds.

CHARGES VOICED

At that hour, radios beamed to the Reds a statement by Ridgway. Allied supreme commander, on why there have been no talks since Wednesday and the three primary prerequisites for getting them started again.

He accused the Reds of objectionable tactics from the start of the talks Tuesday.

(Voice of America broadcasts from the United States accused the Communists of bad faith at Kaesong and also charged they were building up land and air power in Manchuria and Red China.)

Thousands Homeless, Death Toll 23 in Floods

KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 13 (INS)—The rampaging Kaw River, swollen by heavy rains, surged through Kansas City to night and made at least 70,000 persons homeless as it battered eastern and central Kansas in the worst flood in the state's history.

A major portion of a large industrial section of Kansas City was under water. The flooding Kaw set off gasoline explosions and endangered the water supply of more than 750,000 persons in Kansas City, Mo., and Kansas City, Kansas, across the state line.

Damage was estimated as high as $500,000,000 in the area swept by the river.

23 DEAD

The known death toll in the two states was 23, with many persons unaccounted for, and many towns and hamlets isolated by breakdowns in communication.

National Guard, civil officials and army authorities organized an air lift to drop food and other supplies into 111 towns isolated by the flooding Kaw.

Red Cross officials have allocated $500,000 in emergency funds to help the flood sufferers and 44 disaster workers are either already in the flood area or on their way to the scene.

EVACUATION ORDERED

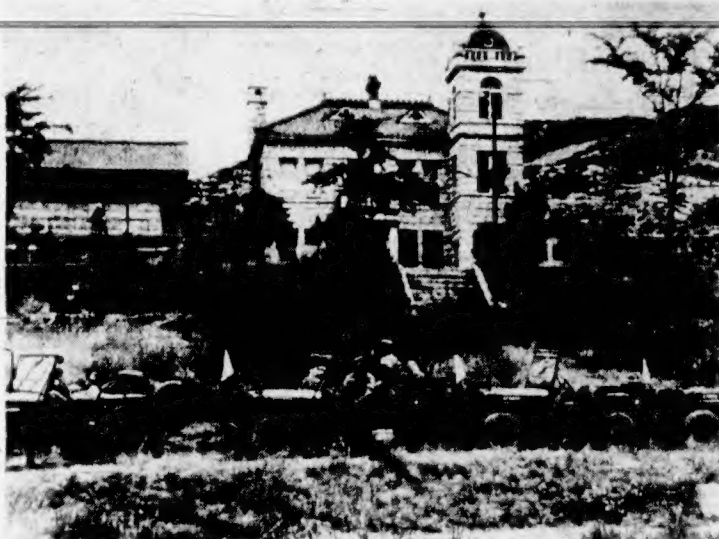

Officials of the twin Kansas Cities ordered evacuation of northern Kansas City residents when the weather bureau warned that the Missouri River also would constitute a flood threat tomorrow.

The weather bureau said that the Big Muddy will swell to 35.5 feet. Army engineers declared that attainment of this figure would push the river over strained levees.

Allies Secure Korean Ridge

U.S. EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea, July 14 (Saturday) (AP)—Allied patrol advances up to five miles secured a ridge line southeast of Kumsong on the Korean east-central front Friday against stubborn Red resistance. Fighting continued until 9 p.m.

Harriman Leaves For Iran

WASHINGTON, July 13 (AP)—Averell Harriman left today for oil-troubled Iran with the hope he can create a spirit of good will between Britain and Iran in the nationalization controversy.

President Truman, sending Harriman to help solve the dispute, told his foreign-affairs adviser that the United States has no selfish interest in the matter.

Meanwhile, Britain's ambassador to Iran, Sir Francis Shepherd, who said Thursday he thought Harriman's visit would not help in solving the dispute, backtracked today.

He told a press conference Thursday he did not see very much point to the Harriman visit, but after a conference today with American ambassador Henry F. Grady, he issued a statement saying his press-conference remarks had caused misunderstanding.

Tito Doubts Red Sincerity

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, July 13 (AP)—Premier Tito said today he doubts Russia's sincerity in seeking an end of the Korean war.

Here, on the fringe of the Iron Curtain with his country under constant pressure from its Soviet satellite neighbors, Tito expressed the belief that Russia's ceasefire move "is only a manoeuvre—to calm things down in Korea in order to open fire in another place."

To Investigate Drunk Testers

VANCOUVER, July 13 (CP)—First step toward introduction of chemical tests for drunken drivers was taken today by the Vancouver police commission.

The commission authorized Police Chief Walter Mulligan to consult with the city prosecutor and report back on various types of testing devices.

The criminal code of Canada was recently amended to permit chemical tests for intoxication. Use of the Harger Drunkometer for testing drunk driving suspects is being considered by the Victoria police commission.

A report on the apparatus was presented at a recent commission meeting by Police Chief John Blackstock, who attended a demonstration in Vancouver some time ago.

Rainmaker to Try Bringing Showers To Dry Peninsula

Guards Avert Rioting

CICERO, Ill., July 13 (AP)—National Guardsmen stretched barbed-wire barricades today to block any new mob attempt to storm an apartment building in which a Negro family has rented a flat.

Riots broke out after the Negro moved his furniture into the apartment Tuesday.

In New York, executive secretary Walter White of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People said he is flying to conduct an investigation.

Barbed wire barricaded all street entrances in the block around the building. Some 350 guardsmen armed with rifles and tear-gas grenades manned the barricade.

Magic Eye Will Fight New Ships

OTTAWA, July 13 (CP)—The new escort vessels Canada is building for the navy are expected to be fought and manoeuvred by men who see the enemy only through the magic eye of radar and other electronic apparatus.

The low-slung, minimum-silhouette design of the anti-submarine craft is believed to tie in with the dangers of the atomic era, including those of atomic radiation.

It is believed to incorporate an important departure from the system of fighting a ship under the direction of a small group standing on the open bridge exposed to enemy fire.

Bapeco, Daily Colonist Joint Sponsors of Effort

By BARNEY MCKINLEY

Rainmaker Donald S. Johnston of Saskatchewan is going to test his skill against one of the worst droughts in the history of Victoria and district.

The much-publicized rainmaker will take his 50-pound rain box into the parched Saanich farmlands in an all-out effort to bring down dollar-making showers.

Cost of the rainmaking trial is being borne by the British America Paint Co. Ltd. in Victoria in a public-service move jointly sponsored by The Daily Colonist.

The paint company and The Colonist decided to sponsor Johnston's trip to the coast after Saanich growers suggested the rain man as a last-ditch hope to end the costly drought.

"A lot of impossible things are done these days," an official of the fruit growers' exchange said. "Don't be too skeptical."

Suggestion to appeal to Johnston came with a scant strawberry crop already vanished into dusty history and new plants due to bear 1952's crop withering in the rows.

Grim urgency is being painted into the picture with the Saanich fruit bowl threatening to degenerate into a little dust bowl and growers frowning over tiny berries of the ripening loganberry crop.

Johnston had already written to the growers, offering to come to Saanich at a minimum cost. Operating cost of the rainmaking machine itself was practically nil, he said.

The rainmaker is now due to arrive in Saanich next week after making arrangements with The Colonist by telephone yesterday.

Major Effort in Career

The big battle against the island dry spell longest remembered by veteran berry men will mark a highlight in the rain-drenched career of the Saskatchewan wonder-worker.

His alleged rainmaking successes have extended over an 11-year period in Saskatchewan and Alberta with most recent operations carried out in Medicine Hat and Redcliff in Alberta and Regina and Swift Current in Saskatchewan.

According to his report, he filled the Medicine Hat district to overflowing by bringing down a 2.33-inch fall of rain in one 24-hour period June 4.

It was a record for the district.

A similar fall here could alter the area to something like the garden of plenty its fertile soil was meant to produce, and chalk up a long-range profit gain for farmers.

Not only would the much-needed drink turn skinny berries into fat blooming ones to boost the per-ton yield of Saanich acreage, but it would also mean the salvation of next year's strawberry crop.

Plants now turning crisp and brown would burst into vigorous growth, auguring healthy berries for next year.

Death in the strawberry rows could mean a near knock-out for some growers and mean a long battle for recovery.

Water Works Wonders

Some growers with rare sprinkling systems in the area claim they wouldn't have had one-tenth the crop without the piped water. They were still picking berries this week, 10 days after the bulk of the famous Saanich strawberry crop was shipped.

It's high stakes the rainmaker will be playing.

Waiting for the kiss of rain are about 175 producing acres planted to strawberries and about 200 in still-to-produce plants. Approximately 200 are planted to logans.

Both types of berries produce an average of two tons to the acre. Estimated value of the total crop this year is $300,000.

Water would boost the crop to five tons an acre, William Kersey, manager of the South Vancouver Island Fruit Growers' exchange said yesterday.

He based his figures on 30 years of experience in the industry.

At five tons an acre the present berry fields would yield a ton money crop valued at $750,000, nearly $500,000 more than the 1951 estimate.

That's just the top berry figures on a few hundred acres of approximately 5,000 in the area, Mr. Kersey said.

Nearly as thirsty as the berries are the acres of vegetables, bulbs and flowers that swell the value of Saanich production.

But the Saskatchewan rainmaker will be up against a dilly of a drought when he arrives here.

Since the end of May only 1.1 inch of moisture has fallen over the wide acres while temperatures soared to near-record figures.

Reds Don't Have Latch Strings

Russians Are Bewildered By Texan's Friendly Call

By WILLIAM C. BARNARD

TOKYO, July 13 (AP)—These Russians could use a little back-porch friendliness.

Where I come from, the latch string is always out. But the Russians don't have any latch strings.

I live just a block from the Russian embassy so I dropped over for a neighborly visit. Well, the way they acted, you'd have thought I had come to snoop.

I offered him a cigarette.

At the front gate today a young soldier, carrying a rifle, signalled for me to wait and made a telephone call. When I offered him a cigarette he said: "Impossible."

Then a man with tanned, tawny hair strode out.

"What do you want?" he asked. "I live down the street and thought I'd come over and pay a social call."

"I do not think I understand," he said.

NEIGHBORLY VISIT

"There's nothing hard to understand about it," I said. "I'm a neighbor of yours. And I'm just dropping in for a neighborly visit."

He went back inside the building and five minutes later came back and said: "You wish to see the embassy?"

"That would be mighty fine," I said.

"We will show you the front of the building, but not any portion where the personnel live."

He led me outside.

"You are an American?" he asked.

"I'm from Texas."

"What is Texas?"

DRIVER'S LICENSE

"It's just the biggest state in the United States," I said, flipping out my Texas-driver's license.

Suspiciously he said: "This card says you are an 'operator'."

"That means I am allowed to operate a motor vehicle," I explained.

He looked so uncomfortable I decided it was time to leave.

As I went out through the gate, I offered my soldier friend another cigarette.

"Impossible." But he smiled.

Red Cross May Give Flood Aid

WINNIPEG, July 13 (CP)—Roy Snyder, provincial commissioner of the Manitoba Red Cross Society, said tonight he is sure the Canadian Red Cross will offer all the resources at its command to the flood-stricken people of Kansas and Missouri.

"We have a large supply of rubber boots, thermos bottles and blankets—all the things so necessary in a catastrophe such as this. They are surplus from Winnipeg's flood of last year and are available if word comes from national headquarters in Toronto," he said.

Mr. Snyder explained that in a disaster such as this the American Red Cross Society would make any appeal direct to the headquarters of the Canadian body.

Hospitals to Bear Costs Of Escalator Wage Pacts

It will be the responsibility of hospital boards, not the Hospital Insurance Service, to provide additional funds required by wage agreements which contain a cost-of-living escalator clause, Health Minister Douglas Turnbull declared yesterday.

The minister said there was to be no change in government policy, which has placed hospitals in the province on fixed budgets.

The policy statement is being circulated among B.C. hospitals in a letter signed by L. F. DeWaller, commissioner of hospital insurance.

SOURCES OF FUNDS

The letter explains that the hospital insurance fund is supported by premium payments, municipal and provincial grants and additional assistance from the provincial government.

"The total amount of money available to the service through the fund is decided on during the session of the legislature each year, and there are no additional monies available during the year for hospital operation," it is explained.

"It is essential then that the expenditures from this fund to hospitals be kept within the amount provided in the fund each year."

Talks on New Pensions Start Monday in Ottawa

OTTAWA, July 13 (CP)—Representatives of the federal and provincial governments will meet here Monday to discuss plans under which pensions of $40 a month will be paid to needy persons between 65 and 69.

The meeting will attempt to agree on pension qualifications.

The federal government alone, starting January 1, will pay pensions of $40 a month to all persons 70 and over, regardless of means, who have lived in Canada for at least 20 years. It has offered to share on a 50-50 basis with the provinces the cost of similar pensions to the needy in the 65-69 age group. It will continue to pay, under more liberal terms, 75 per cent of the cost of

At present, pensions of $40 a month—some provinces pay a little more—are paid to needy persons 70 and over who have lived in Canada 20 years.

ALL ABOARD

By G. E. Mortimore

It is often recorded that famous men started as office boys and worked their way up. However, one finds it difficult to recognize any of tomorrow's tycoons in the current crop of office boys. Some office boys seem actually to be working their way down.

In saying this I specifically exclude copy boys who work on this newspaper and other newspapers. Through our doors have passed some of the brightest young men in town. They great speed, and seldom coming back.

Nearly all Colonial copy boys have graduated to well-paid jobs. I know of two who are truck drivers. One is a seaman. Two Colonial graduates work in pulp mills.

Few copy boys show any desire to become reporters, because they see only too clearly what reporters are like. Only two ex-copy boys have turned out to be failures. One is a sportswriter for this newspaper. Another left her to attend university and is now an engineer. I believe.

However, most of them have made good. They have set a high example for the rest of us by showing that almost any keen youth can fight his way into such lucrative positions as plumber, carpenter or electrician. Horatio Alger was right after all.

The Clyde Beatty's tamed a pair of bass between them at Langford Lake the other night as they cruised about with Alec Merriman in a boat provided by a character called Mortimore. The master of the big cage brought in a 1½-pound fish, and the new Mrs. B., who is a pretty blonde with a Southern accent, snared a little un.

Mr. Beatty likes to angle whenever he can find some time away from his circus and radio program chores.

He cracks a mean whip, as people who have watched his wild animal act know. (Not everybody knows, however, that his only function is to make a noise.) I asked him whether whip practice helped him with casting.

"Trouble is that I usually flick the lure right of the line," he said.

He was planning to take another run at the bass before he left town.

Not long ago an escaped mental patient successfully impersonated a Maine state senator. He went to Columbus, Ohio, as a visiting fireman and addressed both the Ohio House of Representatives and the Senate.

He sat in on a session of the Senate taxation committee, and "seemed well acquainted with taxation matters."

Posing as a Republican, he launched into a tirade against the Democratic party, a minority in the house. This gave him away. Visiting V.I.P.'s usually stick to safe generalities.

By a stroke of irony, it was a newspaperman who unmasked the senator. The Republican publicity director called long distance to the city editor of the Portland, Maine, Press-Herald, who said there was no such person in the Maine legislature.

Malignant and unthinking people will knock themselves out with mirth at the thought that a mental patient and a politician could be so similar. They are mistaken. It's easy to tell the difference.

Politicians make promises and keep them. They talk sense. They take a cool, rational and objective view. They stand up, speak briefly and to the point, and sit down. Mental patients, until they recover their health, find it difficult to do any of these things.

How fortunate it is that politicians are sane. If world leaders were a trifle creaky in the head, living costs would climb out of reach and we would wobble perpetually on the brink of war. The world would be in a mess.

Rainmaker Called for Saanich

The scant shower did little more than settle the dust on a couple of occasions and failed to penetrate into the ground, farmers sighed.

In the last four months only 1.28 inches of rain have reached the thirsty Saanich acres and no rain of any value has fallen since March.

The rainmaker will reach this territory while growers are taking off the logan crop—already about one-third harvested.

penses is to be commended," he said. "It's something entirely outside my experience, but then so is this drought. We're all for it."

DOUBTFUL

Saanich Councillor Leslie Passmore expressed grave doubt as to the feasibility of the operation.

"I've seen a lot of strange things in my time, many of which seemed impossible, but I can't help feeling that this thing is highly improbable."

"However, I wish the fellow all the luck in the world," he said. Cent. Saanich Councillor Ray Lamont called it "wonderful news."

"I'm not affected so much as others around here," he said, "but we've got to have rain somehow."

PRETTY SURE

Johnston himself was pretty sure he could bring the rain.

He explained his rainmaking box worked on electrical principles to draw clouds over an area and then cause them to release moisture.

If he does succeed, he will probably be able to claim all the credit.

Late yesterday the weatherman was betting heavily no rain would fall in this area in the next 48 hours and reported none was in present sight beyond that period.

Best he could see on the charts was a weak weather front starting about 1,000 miles from here.

St. Regis Plans New Factory

NEW YORK, July 13 (CP)—The St. Regis Paper Company (Canada) Ltd. will soon begin construction of a multi-wall paper bag plant at Dryden, Ont., it was announced today.

The announcement, by Thomas H. Crawford, vice-president and managing director, said the new plant will replace one leased now from Dryden Paper Co. Ltd. Its capacity will be three times that of the present plant and will call for an increase in employment of about 50 per cent.

Contract for the new building has been awarded to Dominion Construction Co. Ltd. of Vancouver.

Court Rules Cigarettes Necessity for Women

MOOSE JAW, Sask., July 13 (CP)—Judge George W. McPhee ruled today that cigarettes for a man's wife and grown-up daughter are legitimate items in the family budget.

He allowed a $13.52 item for smokes in a $127-and-costs judgment against Ian C. Nesbitt, formerly of Limerick, Sask., and now of Moose Jaw. The action was brought by C. R. Menzies, Limerick storekeeper, to obtain payment for necessities sold the defendant's wife.

Objection was taken to the cigarette item. Said Judge McPhee: "It would be a bold individual who would say that cigarettes are not a necessity to modern women."

The snafu over operational procedure at Kaesong is another case of American assumption that the enemy will respond to elastic and generous tactics.

The exact conditions which were to surround the truce negotiations were not nailed down. As a result, a dispute over details now threatens the really important matters involved.

The same thing happened when

Roosevelt and Churchill left the details hanging at Yalta regarding the forms of government desired in what have now become the Soviet satellite states of eastern Europe.

BERLIN, POTSDAM

It happened when the military demarcation line was fixed in Germany without detailed agreement about access to the Berlin enclave. It happened when a military line in Korea was left to become a political boundary. It happened at Potsdam regarding operational procedure for post-war Germany.

It happened when Stalin agreed to a settlement of the Berlin blockade and the Allied negotiators left the Kremlin without nailing down the details, which were immediately scrambled by the Russian representatives in Berlin.

Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway's message to the enemy commanders in Korea indicates that the matter of press coverage has become a test case in a situation which was already fouled up by assumption that a neutral meeting place, with equal freedom of movement and communication for both sides.

ENDLESS DEBATE

With the Communists—and it is hard to see how this lesson could have gone so long unlearned—you can't assume any thing. And they will stop in even the most turbulent of midstreams to argue endlessly over any sort of change in what they consider agreed procedure.

The failure of the Washington administration to provide Ridgway with counsel from among its experts in dealing with the Communists already had been the subject of comment among observers before the snafu arose.

There seems to be hope that this particular snafu will be straightened out. Instead of railing, which would be customary, the Communists have been careful to try to explain their positions—that they had no intention of halting the Allied negotiators but only the correspondents.

U.S. Prepares Global Ring Of Air Bases

WASHINGTON, July 13 (AP).—A secret billion-dollar air force building project in Europe and areas rimming Russia was approved today by the House of Representatives armed services committee.

New and expanded American air bases are included in the project.

In other moves to forge a mighty global ring of American air bases against any Soviet aggression:

1. The State Department said Saudi Arabia has agreed to let United States bomber and fighter planes use strategic Dhahran air field for the next five years. The big Middle East base is only about 1,500 miles from Russian territory.

2. The House armed services committee tentatively approved $357,686,000 in construction at eight bases in the Alaskan area and Puerto Rico and six within the United States.

3. Senator Henry Lodge (Rep., Mass.) proposed that the United States speedily build a 150-group air force, the mightiest in the world, to avoid the risk of national disaster.

The air force said yesterday it is rushing the construction of a system of north African bases.

No Gangrene, Major Amputations

Usual Sequels Averted In Frostbite Treatment

CHICAGO, July 13 (INS).—A new treatment for severe frostbite which averts its tragic sequelae—gangrene and major amputations—even in patients who are literally frozen stiff, was described today by three Chicago physicians.

Keystone of the new method is the use of anticoagulants—drugs which retard or prevent the clotting of blood—at the earliest possible moment, and never more than 16 hours after the exposure to cold.

War-time studies show gangrene is caused by the formation of massive clots within tiny blood vessels.

PATIENT ICE COLD

Doctors Frank V. Theis, William R. O'Connor and Frederick J. Wahl said one of their patients was "ice cold." His hands and feet were frozen solid, his temperature too low to be recorded on any ordinary thermometer, and his pulse too faint to be felt.

Admitted to the hospital after eight hours of exposure to cold, his limbs were thawed at room temperature—not by rubbing with snow, a common and incorrect popular treatment.

After routine shock and infection precautions were taken, the anticoagulant drugs were given.

SURPRISING RECOVERY

The doctors reported: "The patient made a surprising recovery . . . he regained consciousness in eight hours. Though all his fingernails and toenails came off, only the right fifth finger required amputation."

If the anti-blood-clotting drugs had not been used, they added, "it could be assumed that both hands and both feet would have required amputation."

Swap Rain For Drought

MIDLAND, Ont., July 13 (CP).—British Columbia, which has had almost 40 days of continuous drought, is due for rain but it won't get there until the first of next week.

The rain is in a bottle shipped yesterday from this Georgian Bay town where hardly 24 hours have passed in the preceding 40 days without a visit from Jupiter Pluvius.

The bottle went with 10 Midland sea cadets who will train for two weeks at Camp Latona, B.C., along with a request from the Midland Chamber of Commerce that Ontario and British Columbia get together on an interchange of weather.

Civilian Career Guarded During Term in Forces

OTTAWA, July 13 (CP).—A Canadian can enlist in the armed forces now, serve up to three years and then go back to his old civilian employer and demand a job as good as he would have had if he'd been with the firm all the time.

The new Veterans' Benefit Act gives the right to reinstatement in employment to any man or up to three years. Members of the army's Special Force may re-enlist in the regular force, serve three years and then apply for their old jobs. Or they can get them back if they don't go into the regular force.

TEA HIS SPECIALTY
LONDON (CP).—A fast-working thief in the Rotherhithe dock district has been concentrating on tea, a rationed commodity in Britain. Three times within two weeks he has stolen parked trucks loaded with tea consignments.

Blue-eyed Margaret was all smiles when reporters asked her what she thought of the men she met during her tour of Britain, France, Italy, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg.

IN THE PLURAL

"Why," she exclaimed with a broad grin, "continental men are very charming, but they are nothing like Americans. Give me the gentlemen at home—in the plural—get it straight."

Reporters wanted to know if she had any particular men in mind, but Margaret just shook her head and said no.

First Case East of Alberta

Rocky Mountain Spotted Fever Hits Woman in Saskatchewan

LETHBRIDGE, Alta., July 13 (CP).—A 60-year-old Alberta woman who came down with Rocky Mountain spotted fever a month ago contracted the disease in southwestern Saskatchewan, an Alberta government entomologist said today.

It is believed the first time a case of the disease has been contracted in Canada east of Alberta, where in the last nine years there have been 12 cases and eight deaths.

The Alberta entomologist, J. H. Brown, said the woman, who has since recovered in Medicine Hat, was bitten by an infected tick while in Eastend, Sask., about 35 miles east of the Alberta border.

"It would appear that either animals have carried the infected ticks, or that spotted fever ticks from Alberta have crossed into Saskatchewan and infected ticks there," said Mr. Brown.

Saskatchewan government men are reported to be supervising measures to prevent further cases.

Correspondents Rap Ban on Insignia

U.S. EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea, July 13 (AP).—Commonwealth correspondents tonight protested an Eighth Army order that newspaper men in Korea, to cover cease-fire negotiations, may wear only U.N. war correspondent insignia.

The Commonwealth correspondents said they saw no reason why they shouldn't continue to wear their own badges and shoulder titles.

Peace With Japan

AS IN the case of the partial sovereignty restored to Western Germany, the settlement which seems imminent with Japan, going all the way to a peace treaty and practically restoring her former independence, was bound to come sooner or later. Wars must end eventually on paper as well as on the battlefield. Also, as with Germany, a certain amount of disquiet remains.

The MacArthur thesis that Japan has reformed and is now a democratic nation must be taken with large doses of salt. Democracy, which is a way of life learned only by patient experiment, is not something to be put on overnight like a cloak. It will be a long time yet before Japan proves to the satisfaction of those who remember her wartime atrocities that her character has changed.

Australia, far out in the Pacific and with painful wartime memories, excusably is doubtful about her own future security once Japan is again let loose, although perhaps these fears may be allayed by the defence pact to be created between herself, New Zealand and the United States. There should also be some reassurance in the fact that the United States will retain troops and military bases in Japan for some time to come.

The proposed treaty, to be signed by Canada and 49 other nations once they agree to its terms, has been pressed strongly on her former allies by the United States, which is anxious to be rid of heavy occupation costs and also stands to gain through commercial agreements with the free Japan. This is a point that until recently at least stuck in British throats, since unlimited Japanese exports founded on cheap labor and low living standards pose a serious threat to Britain's trade structure. Seemingly, however, Great Britain has been won over or been forced to acquiesce in American proposals.

As for Russia, standing aloof as usual, the treaty will be signed with or without her. This can be done because there is no Red Army, the stumbling block at all other points of conflict, in Japan. In any case Russia has already been vastly overpaid for her seven-day intervention in the Japanese war, which contributed nothing to the allied victory. She can well be left out.

Pensioners and the Bonus

IN VIEW of the fact that the universal old-age pension is to go into effect next January 1, it is time the British Columbia Government made some announcement of what it proposes to do about the provincial bonus. There is considerable concern among people now drawing the pension as to what will happen to them when the federal government takes over.

At present the provinces pay 25 per cent of the basic $40 pension to needy persons aged 70 years and over, and British Columbia supplements this with a $10 bonus. On January 1 the Dominion will assume full responsibility for the $40 pension and will at the same time eliminate the present means test, which means that rich and poor alike can have the pension for the asking on reaching the age of eligibility. No one in authority has said anything yet about the effect of this shift of responsibility on the British Columbia bonus.

In times like the present it is unthinkable that the province would discontinue the bonus; yet to retain it means to defeat a major purpose of pension revision, namely, the removal of the means test. The federal pension is to be on some sort of contributory basis, which makes it fair that everyone should receive it, but the bonus is a different matter, since it comes out of the general revenue of the province. It would be manifestly unfair to taxpayers to use public money to provide bonuses for persons not in need. That being the case, some form of means test seems inescapable, however much it is to be regretted.

In the absence of any official statement on the subject, however, all this is a matter of conjecture. There is to be another Dominion-Provincial conference on pensions next week, and after that the provincial government should publish a clear statement of its intentions. Much anxiety is being caused to the aged by continued uncertainty as to the fate of the bonus, and measures should be taken at the earliest possible opportunity to restore their peace of mind.

Conscience Money?

THE ARGENTINE government paid $1,366,915 into court this week in response to an order setting this as "compensation" the Peron administration should pay for having sequestered the newspaper La Prensa lock, stock and barrel without color of right. The internationally known daily of course would be worth many times such a sum, and this is only another step in the manoeuvre to muzzle free speech in Argentina with court processes as a facade to screen a wholly indefensible action. No sum paid in "compensation" for the suppression of free speech could ever right that wrong, or justify the deed itself.

Mr. Peron may think that this is the last act, and that La Prensa has been suppressed. History suggests on the other hand that there is no such thing as a final action, and that Argentina's dictator will have to pay for this one in many and diverse ways and for a good long time to come. Meanwhile what La Prensa stood for in the free world will be heightened, rather than lessened, by these acts.

ROWDIES AT THETIS

Sir,—Like many other young people in this city, my friends and I find the swimming at Thetis Lake better and more accessible than at any of the other local swimming spots.

However, we have been forced to conclude that because of the really disgusting conditions out there, we must either go elsewhere or not swim at all.

By disgusting conditions, I am referring to the men who frequent the lake and make it impossible for even a group of three to five girls to walk down to the raft unharmed.

Undoubtedly, everyone has an equal right to be at the lake and I suppose there will always be undesirable types present, but when people who are obviously interested only in swimming are annoyed, the situation is beyond a joke.

Although Thetis is apparently renowned throughout the city for these conditions (since I am new in the city it came as a distinct shock to me), no one is apparently interested in remedying the situation.

Apart from the annoyance we feel at the indignities we have encountered, my friends and I feel that this is definitely a social problem which some agency—police, city council or social workers—should undertake to clean up. From what we have observed, Thetis seems to be a meeting place for a great many of the town's least desirable teenagers and young folk. This is decidedly a demoralizing influence on others who go there.

Even if Thetis were patrolled by the police, I have no doubt that the situation out there would improve tremendously. Will no one take on this project.

PERFORMING ANIMALS

Sir,—Once again, in spite of protests, Victoria is countenancing the saddening spectacle of performing animals. Were a circus to consist of human performers only, there could be little objection to it. Now, however, posters depicting a man menacing a lion with what appears to be an iron bar, and other displays of a similar character, are plastered about the town, cheapening our city from whatever angle one looks at it. Do such savage and crude pictures encourage in the young kindly thoughts and deeds of which we stand so much in need in these days? On the contrary, they foster a callous hardness which will later have far-reaching and bitter results. Poor creatures from the jungles and forests must perform grotesque and painful antics to amuse the unthinking and the unfeeling, for all who applaud animal acts must be one or the other. . . .

The S.P.C.A. and, indeed, all who have pity for the wronged and abused can only raise our voices in strong protest and hope for the day when civic pride, if no higher motive, will unhesitatingly turn down such exhibitions and that money will not loom so large that it hides justice and fair play, to say nothing of the humane side.

RAISING RABBITS

Sir,—After reading several letters regarding the eating and selling of horse meat, and the different foods one can eat in its place such as eggs, fish, salads, etc., I wish to draw attention to one of the finest of all meats—domestic rabbit meat.

Domestic rabbit meat can be purchased and it sells for less than any other meat, including chicken. Rabbits that are properly butchered and processed are sold ready for the frying pan or stew pot, also whole for roasting. Government analyses show that domestic rabbits dressed out as much as 60 per cent of the live weight. It is non-heating, non-fattening, contains less acid and has more food value than other meats. Pound for pound it will go farther than any other meat.

My advice is to give up worrying about horse meat and the high price of other meat, and get a couple of real live rabbits and raise one of the finest of all meats. The writer will be only too glad to instruct anyone interested in the raising of rabbits.

STOP SIGNS

Sir,—I have been requested to express the appreciation of a large number of the residents in the vicinity of Pembroke and Shakespeare Streets for the prompt and splendid response by the transportation committee of our city to the request made by a large number of citizens in the erection of prominent stop signs at the intersection of these two streets.

We feel sure that this action will prove valuable in reducing speedily the number of near accidents, and possibly the saving of life and property damage. Once again we say thanks to the committee for its wise and speedy action.

Second Look

By FRANK KELLEY

THERE happens a time when with-out some thinking or maybe—in this case it was—owing to hurried scrutiny, that one manages to "miss" the opportunity to hand out a bit of credit for a bit of achievement scored by a fellow wayfarer. That is what happened in this space last Saturday morning when I took advantage of an opportunity to applaud a publication issued by the government department identified with the administration of provincial lands.

A bit enthusiastic over the material spread through the greater part of the publication devoted to reports of surveys and what-not gathered in the field, it was an easy enough matter to bypass the interesting references made in connection with the history of the development of the land service administered by the deputy minister of lands.

I don't think it was ever told before. Certainly not so abundantly in connection with an annual report. Opening his report to the minister of lands and forests, Hon. E. T. Kenney, Mr. Melrose announces: "The annual report for 1950 provides an appropriate vehicle for a short review of the history and evolution of land administration in the province and is not amiss, both because it explains the land service organization of today and because we have reached the first century of land administration, settlement and development."

Referring to a chart which prefaces the report, the deputy minister states it clearly shows that a considerable share of responsibility for the care and administration of the natural resources wealth of British Columbia rests upon the land service. In brief, the function of the land service is to exercise control over 234,403,000 acres, with about 95 per cent of it still Crown-held, quite a physical responsibility.

Neither is the jurisdiction a static one. It is particularly active at the present time. To achieve comprehension and the control direction of the British Columbia terrain, the administration must measure and map the surface, subdivide it for agricultural, industrial and control purposes and allot the measured, mapped and legally established surface to proper uses.

The surface of the province naturally includes water, which means close scrutiny is necessary to establish resource priorities. It is very essential, doing the thing properly, to have a long-term policy as well as one elastic enough to fit immediate demands.

In this report, the deputy minister makes what he calls a "horse-back review" of the history and evolution of land policy in British Columbia. On January 13, 1849, by royal charter, Vancouver Island was ceded to the Hudson's Bay Company upon the condition it should form a colony of British subjects, disposing of the land at a reasonable price.

Previous to that time there were certain land transactions incidental to the fur trade. The first land transaction, Mr. Melrose recalls, took place at Nootka in 1791, when Captain John Kendrick, Boston trader, swapped nine muskets for Maquinna for land totaling nine square miles. That was offered for sale by Kendrick's employers, who advertised it in 1795 as "fertile soil and delightful climate," which was possibly the first effort to sell Vancouver Island real estate anywhere. In the meantime the traders tested the land at various points in British Columbia with considerable success.

Until 1858 there was no settlement of the mainland. In that year the first pre-emption ordinance was issued for the Colony of British Columbia, instituted November 19, at Fort Langley. The growth of the province is recorded in gold rushes, Confederation and the coming of the C.P.R. It all makes good reading.

Issue of German Unity

By WILLIAM MATHEWS

North American Newspaper Alliance

FRANKFURT—That part of Germany occupied by the forces of the Soviet Union and known today as East Germany or the Soviet Zone, is destined to become within the next year an acute political issue in German and international politics.

As West Germany grows stronger and gains in self-confidence, the demand for German unity will grow stronger. Every German wants to see a united country. This feeling is generated not merely by German patriotism but also by family connections. Countless German families in West Germany have relatives in the Soviet Zone. The stories of sufferings in this zone are enough to move any human being, but when they come first-hand from sons and daughters or mothers and fathers, the feeling grows that such a situation must be brought to an end.

Today, East Germany is an actual Soviet satellite, governed by a German Communist government, which is told what to do by political directors from Moscow. The Red army, 350,000 strong, is present to act as a protector of this Soviet conquest. The 18,000,000 Germans in East Germany live a life haunted by terror of the political police and scarcity of the means to sustain life, seemingly a natural part of every Communist society.

An American of unquestioned probity and competence told of meeting a nurse who worked in an important hospital in East Germany. He knew her family and background. She could not help unburdening herself to him.

"I have seen so much war that I abhor it," she said, "but every night now when I go to bed, I pray for a war that will bring an end to our sufferings. It will be better to die that way, rather than waste away as we are now doing."

Life is dreary and hard in East Germany, because the Soviets are continually bleeding it of what it produces. Although East Germany produces a considerable food surplus each year, the people live on bare rations.

The constant stream of refugees adds to the political force of this issue. Housing is already critically short in West Germany. With more and more refugees being taken into homes, the housing becomes desperate. Housewives tire of having such guests, and so they talk of the need of German unity as a means of relieving their own situation.

Another factor is religion. East Germany is 85 per cent Protestant. West Germany today is 50 per cent Protestant, 45 per cent Catholic and 5 per cent non-believers. The joining of East Germany would almost certainly cause the fall of the present government, which is headed by a Catholic, although the current government is doing a good job.

As long as the Allied powers exercise political control, they can keep this issue from getting out of hand. When, however, they recognize the full sovereignty and equality of Germany, it can become a dangerous one.

In connection with this, the Soviets have suggested that representatives of the two Germanies meet and attempt to settle their differences. This suggestion has been rejected, because of the Soviet demands that East Germany, with 18,000,000 people, must be considered on an equal basis with the West Germany of 47,000,000 inhabitants. The West sees in this the old Soviet game of making equality synonymous with the use of veto power.

Behind all this prospective development is the remarkable recovery of West Germany, and the strength and confidence it is generating in the German people. Germany is on the threshold of becoming a great political power again. Any government that governs her will have to recognize and deal with a grass-roots political issue like the one of German unity. It comes from the people.

Ottawa and Sex Comics

(From The Edmonton Journal)

JUSTICE Minister Garson deserves congratulation for his prompt action to deal with the boycott recently organized against a Medicine Hat news-dealer who refused to sell "sex comics" and other objectionable magazines.

The dealer was informed by the distributing company he dealt with that unless he was prepared to handle a number of offensive publications of this type, he would no longer be supplied with the better-class national magazines which were his main stock in trade. The case was widely commented on in Western newspapers, and led to protests in parliament. Mr. Garson has now instructed the combines investigation branch to look into the matter.

The minister's remarks on the subject are worth repeating. He stated that the enforcement of the 1949 law against "crime comics" was normally a matter for the provinces, but, he added:

"When a company, as a condition to furnishing its purchasers with copies of decent magazines, insists that they take a lot of trash of this sort through the exercise of what perhaps may be some monopoly position, then we have regarded that as the responsibility of the combines investigation branch . . .

"In so far as it lies within our power, we want to back up a news-dealer who is decent and honorable enough that he will even entertain the possibility of some sacrifice to himself rather than handle this rubbish."

This is an attitude which will be generally welcomed by all who are concerned with the effect of "pulp" and so-called "romances" on children and young people. It is admittedly an extremely difficult matter to stop the publication of this trash, but certainly the publishers and their representatives should not be allowed to force their wares on unwilling buyers.

The Packsack

OF GREGORY CLARK

THE crow is probably the most common of all our birds, but none the less it is one of the most fascinating of wild creatures to study. If the farmers across Canada could pool their observations and reflections on crows, it would make a wonderful book.

absurdly human aspects of a crow is in the reaction to owls. At this time of year, crows are still exploring the dense thickets and deepest woods for nestlings to eat. In this work they operate in the greatest stealth and silence. A crow can enter and scan a dense jungle of woodland with all the secrecy and delicacy of a safe-cracker entering a bank. It is a solo job, crows working alone rather than in the familiar family groups, on this nest robbing. It is the unmet little naked nestlings of warbler and vireo they seek, as they peer and pry, dropping unobtrusively from branch to branch in the shadowy thickets.

Suddenly, the crow comes upon an owl, solemnly and stolidly asleep in one of the obscurest nooks of the woods. Scandalized, thunderstruck, aghast, the crow throws away all its stealth, and with a preliminary raucous yell, flaps for the open air.

And there, circling frantically around the corpse hiding the owl, the crow shouts and cries murder, thieves, burglars, in the most frenzied tones, calling other crows from far and wide to come and help mob this villain, this monster of an owl.

Set a thief to catch a thief is an ancient proverb. But the high moral attitude of those crows wildly circling and accusing an owl is only one of the characteristics of the black raven that bear a comic resemblance to human nature.

So far as most observers can discover, owls at least don't rob nests.

Korean Unity

IT cannot always be assumed that President Rhee speaks for the Korean people. But when he voices a stubborn opposition to a cease fire at the 38th parallel he is the unmistakable spokesman of popular opinion in South Korea.

One can sympathize deeply with the longing of the people for unification, a longing as widespread and intense as that of the divided Germans. Ultimately any political and economic solution of lasting value must rest on a united Korea, as United Nations aims rightly recognize. But the U.N. did not undertake to achieve this solution by force of arms; it was the North Koreans who tried to do this. One of the reasons more American arms were not given to President Rhee before the outbreak of war was that it was feared he would himself inaugurate an attack against North Korea.

Actually, any cease fire which the U.N. would accept is bound to include guarantees for South Korea against renewed aggression. These would put it in a relatively safer position than before the war began, and to that extent would represent a gain for the South Koreans. The incalculable suffering and loss of the people caused by the fighting is another matter. Only the tangible aid and sympathy of the free world can begin to heal these frightful wounds.

It is natural that in the midst of their misery the people should passionately desire that out of it should come the unified, independent Korea of their dreams. Anything less might well seem to them "loss." But putting Korea into its larger setting, the outside world may properly conclude that much has been gained in resisting aggression and strengthening the free nations' position without setting off a world conflagration which could totally divert U.N. efforts away from the Republic of Korea.

We hope the Koreans themselves may see how much they have to gain by helping to avert further catastrophe while political, nonmilitary roads to unification are explored.

Morte d'Arthur

And slowly answered Arthur from the barge:
"The old order changeth, yielding place to new,
And God fulfils Himself in many ways,
Lest one good custom should corrupt the world,
Comfort thyself: What comfort is in me?"

I have lived my life, and that which I have done
May He within Himself make pure!
But thou,
If thou shouldst never see my face again,
Pray for my soul. More things are wrought by prayer
Than this world dreams of. Wherefore, let thy voice
Rise like a fountain for me night and day.

For what are men better than sheep or goats
That nourish a blind life within the brain,
If, knowing God, they lift not hands of prayer
Both for themselves and those who call them friend? . . .

—Alfred Tennyson.

News of City Churches

Addition Will Make Metropolitan Among City's Largest

Construction of a $100,000 addition to Metropolitan United Church is expected to begin in the near future.
Blueprints and final plans for the structure, which will make the church's overall dimensions among the largest in the city, have already been drawn up, but tenders are yet to be called for.

Measuring approximately 70 by 90 feet, the addition will adjoin the present church at the corner of Quadra and Pandora. Three stories high in some sections, it will contain a room measuring 60 by 70 feet, a modern kitchen, a lounge and meeting rooms for young people.

By ERIC M. SMITH
Colonist Telegraph Editor
(From A.P., C.P., I.N.S., Reuters)
Gen. Omar N. Bradley, chairman of the U.S. Joint Chiefs of Staff, terday that a truce in Korea would increase the possibility that something would start some place else.

Testifying before the House foreign affairs committee, Bradley was asked if a cease-fire settlement would mean greater danger ahead.

The general agreed, adding that it leads almost to the certainty that it would be better to keep the war in Korea going because "you are accomplishing so much" by keeping the Communists involved.

Also in Washington, the U.S. state department has come out and flatly blamed Soviet Premier Stalin for the Korean war, saying Stalin's propaganda machine is going full tilt to make the truce negotiations appear a surrender by the United Nations.

A former Communist told U.S. House investigators in Washington he believes a Red underground organization has been firmly established in the U.S. and is run by leaders in New York.

In a ship-to-ship interview relayed to Pearl Harbor, steel-nerved Ted Sierks told how he stabbed to death with a sailor knife a seven-foot shark which nibbled at his feet during the 30 hours he was adrift in a life-ring in mid-Pacific. Lost overboard from a yacht racing to Hawaii, Sierks was picked up eventually by a U.S. Navy destroyer-escort.

U.S. statesman Bernard Baruch, in Paris after a first-hand look at how U.S. troops are getting along in camps in Germany, makes a renewed appeal for universal military training.

A pub-crawl in London by two British peers to see how London compares with Paris in the open-air drinking department has been called off by mutual consent. Both gentlemen, it appears, were really joking when the tour was proposed in the House of Lords.

Military

Egypt has announced in Alexandria a cabinet decision to shut any military conferences with Britain as long as Egypt's national aspirations are unsatisfied.

A London report says British troops are being dispatched to the new army rifle. It seems that the new 280-calibre rifle, shorter than the old 303 Lee-Enfield, compels a soldier standing at ease during the manual of arms to lean far to one side. Change of balance, too, makes impossible the regulation "aloft arms."

The U.S. Army in Washington has raised its estimate of enemy casualties in Korea to 1,202,928—an increase of 11,506 since its last estimate of nine days ago.

Oddments

Prince Albert local of the Electrical Union Employees' Union (C.E.U.) has threatened to call a sympathy strike unless the strike of Saskatchewan government airways workers is settled soon.

Officials of the C.B.C. in Toronto announce that transcriptions of voices of Canadian troops both in and out of action in Korea will be broadcast Sunday at 3 p.m. P.D.T. on the C.B.C. Trans-Canada network. The officials said the broadcast would include an air attack in support of Canadian troops, with the action described by Brig. J. M. Rockingham.

Evacuation of Vancouver residents is one of the problems in the area-wide civil defense tests now going on. Roger D. Dunham, regional civil defense director at Seattle, announces. Indications were, he said, that Vancouverites would have to be routed through Steven's Pass in Washington and then back into Canada.

Damage $300 In Car Crash

Damage to cars driven by C. W. Gamble, Sidney, and L. S. Anderson, 1006 1/2 Balmoral, in collision on Oldfield at Brookleigh yesterday afternoon, was estimated at approximately $300 by Saanich police.

Mrs. Aileen Lawrence, 1004 1/2 Balmoral, a passenger in Anderson's car, was taken to Royal Jubilee Hospital for examination, and later released.

Casualty Report Shows Two Dead, Eight Injured

OTTAWA, July 13 (C.P.).—The army today issued its 38th casualty list of the Korean war, reporting two men killed in action, six men wounded, and two injured in a battle accident.

This brought to 217 the number of casualties so far suffered by Canadian troops in the Korean theatre, including 54 dead, 146 wounded, and 17 injured in battle accidents.

Air Defense Taking Shape

OTTAWA, July 13 (C.P.).—The staff of Canada's first air defense command, equivalent of Britain's fighter command, is being built up.

On the heels of announcement that Air Vice-Marshal A. L. James will take over the command August 1, it was announced today that Group Capt. J. C. Scott, 37, is being posted to the headquarters at St. Hubert airport, Montreal, as senior air staff officer.

Also announced today was posting of Group Capt. C. L. Treacren, 44, of Ottawa, as commanding officer of the R.C.A.F. station at Aylmer, Ont., succeeding Sgt. Ldr. J. W. McNeen who has been acting commander for some months.

U.S. State Department Suspends More Staff

WASHINGTON, July 13 (INS).—Secretary of State Dean Acheson revealed today that several more state department officials have been suspended pending loyalty board hearings of charges against them.

Acheson told his news conference that the employees who were suspended are in addition to the two whose suspensions were announced Thursday. The two were John P. Davies, Jr. and Oliver Edmund Clubb.

But he said the state department will not make public the names of the additional employees or the nature of the accusations. Acheson also refused to discuss the charges against Davies and Clubb.

Uncle Wiggily Story

SOMETHING THAT HAPPENED

Uncle Wiggily was worried about what Bosun, the old sea dog, had predicted. For when the rabbit gentleman and his friends were on the raft in Frog Pond, getting it ready to sail, Bosun had said he feared something would happen before they could sail on Saturday.

"But can't you tell me what it is, Bosun? Then maybe I could stop it from happening. Tell me which was now closed for the summer, came to the raft.

"I think I shall try a few practice shots," she said as she picked up a gun.

"Excuse me! I'll go ashore," said Mr. Turfbog. "The last time you did your jolly shooting, my old dear, you shot my hat off."

"I'll be more careful now," promised Miss Mouse. "And she was."

Uncle Wiggily was busy all over the raft, making sure the sail, and all its ropes, the rudder and the different cabins were in the raft and pul aboard our sporting things—like balls and bats?

"Oh, yes, Buster. Go ahead." So Buster and his chums went to the raft early on Friday. A little later Uncle Wiggily, Bosun and Mr. Turfbog went to the shore of Frog Pond than

Bosun barked:

"I was right! I knew it! Something has happened!"

What had happened? I can tell you tomorrow if the white marshmallow candy doesn't go swimming in the bottle of ink and come out looking like a licorice drop.

HOLIDAY HAUNTS

In British Columbia's Beautiful Interior

Trail — In The Heart Of The Kootenays

Situated on the banks of the Columbia River, Trail is a mere 10 miles from the United States border, and is on the Southern Transprovincial Highway.

Trail's industry centres around the vast Consolidated Mining & Smelting Company of Canada, located on a bench overlooking the city.

Trail has many beauty spots, lovely civic gardens, clean safe beach, several parks.

Located in the lovely Kootenay district, Trail is surrounded by beautiful countryside. North of Trail are the Arrow Lakes, two long, narrow lakes with many summer camps bordering their lower end. Fishing, hunting and camping are excellent on the calm waterways.

Trail is linked by highway with Nelson and Kaslo, two cities on the Kootenay Lake. This lake is noted for its sport fishing.

Golf, swimming, fishing, hunting, bowling... winter sports of skating, curling and skiing are all enjoyed by sportsmen in and around Trail.

BULLETIN No. 6 CIVIL DEFENCE

LEARN—AND LIVE

"FIRE"

Fire causes from two to one hundred times as much damage as high explosive and takes more lives. Therefore, elementary fire fighting in its many forms must be understood by everyone.

Fire requires fuel, air and heat—exclude one and the fire stops. Use water to kill a fire—sand or earth to restrict air supply—close windows and doors.

PRECAUTION AGAINST FIRE

Get rid of inflammable material in attics and basements. (Even in peace time such material creates a high fire risk.)

Fire retarding paints do not make woodwork fireproof but only delay the outbreak of fire.

Home Fire Fighting Appliances—

Stirrup hand pump—garden hose—buckets—long handled shovel—garden rake—plenty of water—sand or earth.

You cannot have too much water—a rake is handy for dislodging a bomb in rafters or roof gutters—a long handled shovel for applying sand or earth—goggles and thick gloves give added protection.

Fighting Fires—

Keep flat to avoid heat and smoke—control fires first—then attack any bomb—keep calm and act quickly. Use a jet of water on a fire and on a bomb.

Incendiary Bombs—

Don't cover a bomb with earth or sand unless it is on a concrete floor—keep an eye on the room below in case the bomb burns through.

Danger spots—roofs and top floors. If it falls near you, fight it from best available cover.

Fight an oil bomb with sand or earth—don't use water.

Fight a phosphorous bomb with water—keep the area wet to prevent a fresh outbreak. When the bomb is out, put in a bucket of sand or earth and take outside.

Watch your home—don't bother about bombs in the open.

Watch for another bulletin in next week's newspaper.

THE GOVERNMENT OF BRITISH COLUMBIA
HON. W. T. STRAITH, K.C., Provincial Secretary
MAJ.-GEN. C. R. STEIN, Civil Defence Co-ordinator

Bill and Bob White, Victoria Athletics' Pipe Band was also in attendance and players were driven to homes in 1951 convertibles. Bob is in centre, Bill at right. At left is M.C. Bill Stephenson.—(Colonist photos by Bud Kinsman.)

Hal Jackson, left, complete with stetson, promised more successful home stand. With him is catcher Milt Martin. Jackson tried to give home stand auspicious start last night by hurling last six innings but A's were unable to overcome big early Tacoma lead.

By The Canadian Press
Chicago White Sox staged a storybook finish last night to score three runs in the last half of the 19th inning and defeat Boston Red Sox 5-3 in their second marathon struggle in two nights.

The Chicago club bounced back after Boston had played two runs in their half of the 19th to bring home the necessary three runs for victory. Relief pitcher Harry Dorish, who came in in the 14th inning and went the rest of the way, was the winner.

It was a dramatic and tense finish to a brilliant neck-and-neck duel between the two clubs, and the win moved Chicago into a first-place tie with Boston in the American League standing.

RECORD TIED
A crowd of 25,211 saw the struggle, which tied the major league record for night games. The same two teams had set the American league record Thursday night when they played 17 innings before the Red Sox finally won out by the same 5-4 score.

The White Sox hoped they were slim as they came to bat in the last of the 19th. Boston pitchers Maury McDermott and Harry Taylor had mowed them down ruthlessly ever since the fifth, when Chicago scored their two runs.

But the scrappy White Sox loaded the bases with none out, and pinch-hitter Eddie Stewart knocked home two runs with a single to knot the count. The Sox then reloaded the bases and Don Lenhardt drove home the winner on a long fly ball.

TRIBE DOWNS YANKEES
Meanwhile, the New York Yankees slipped a little further behind by dropping an 11-8 decision to Cleveland Indians in a slugfest contest that saw eight pitchers parade to the mound and 28 hits bounce off their offerings.

Bob Lemon was credited with his ninth victory against eight defeats in winning the contest that lasted two hours and 59 minutes. Frank Shea, who replaced starter Vic Raschi, was the loser.

Four players hit homers, Joe Collins, Jim Hegan, Gil McDougald and Al Rosen. Collins' homer was the bases full.

NOTCH EIGHTH STRAIGHT
Brooklyn's blistering Dodgers exploded for eight runs in the first two innings, then withstood a late home-run barrage to defeat Chicago Cubs, 8-6 Friday for their eighth straight National League victory.

It was Chicago's eighth straight loss, but the Windy City laid down fighting. They clubbed five home runs—two by Randy Jackson—to cause some anxious moments for the ladies' day crowd of 28,822.

Big Don Newcombe sought his 13th victory for the runaway league-leader. His mates staked him to five runs in the first inning and three in the second, but the big right-hander developed stiff-ness in his right shoulder and had to leave the game in the fourth frame.

Wes Westrum and rookie Dave Williams belted grand slam home runs.

FOOTBALL PRACTICE
The Oak Bay Canadian football team will hold a practice at Windsor Park at 1 p.m. tomorrow. Anyone interested in playing is asked to attend.

Jackson Faces Peacock In City Tennis Finals

Favored Rex Jackson and second-seeded Peter Peacock moved into the finals of the city championships at the Victoria Lawn Tennis Club last night with outstanding semi-final victories.

Jackson's game featured crisp volleys as he defeated Gordon Hartley 6-3, 6-2. Peacock surprised the gallery with a powerful, driving game as he overcame a 0-3 deficit in the first set to oust third-seeded Jack Rutt 10-8, 6-0.

SCORES UPSET
Unseeded Diana Knowles scored major upset as she defeated second-seeded Tommy Elmsley to move into the women's singles final against top-seeded Bessie Wilson. Mrs. Knowles dropped the first set and overcame a 4-5 deficit in the second set to win out 4-6, 8-6, 6-2.

Jackson and Jim McArthur earned the right to meet defending champions Jack Parker and Bill Dunbar for the men's doubles crown by outlasting Peacock and Bert Jones 6-3, 7-9, 6-2.

Veteran Carl Brand and youthful Isobel Henley were victors in another upset when they took a marathon mixed doubles triumph over second-seeded Miss Elmsley and Parker with the match finishing in virtual darkness. Winners won the first set 7-5, dropped the second 9-11, after losing four match points, and swept through the deciding set 6-0.

Sluggert Slugs Homer Into Next Ball Diamond

And Students, co-holders of second place.

Any combination of two Butler victories and two defeats for the runners-up will give Aces the title.

Big John Furstman played a major role in the Aces' victory, limiting the Gasmen to six hits while contributing three hits to the attack. One of his hits was a three-run homer in the sixth that landed in the middle of the women's softball diamond and disrupted a game there.

Ronnie Ben and Brian Sluggert also picked up three hits each, with the latter blasting a two-run homer in the eighth. Neither of the homers was needed after Aces scored six runs in the second on a double, four singles, a walk and an error.

Butler's Aces all but clinched first place in the Senior "A" Men's Softball League last night by whipping Pitzer & Nex, 12-3, at Upper Central.

With only four games remaining for Aces, six for Pitzer & Nex, and five for Chinese Students, the victory boosted Aces five points ahead of the Gasmen.

Early Lead Sufficient For Combines' Vital Win

Ernie Smith's third goal at 8:23 of the finale upped Vancouver's margin to 8-5, but Cervi—a four-goal man—and then Johnson at 11:30 hoisted Indians to within one goal, 7-8, with time expiring.

INSURED WIN
Veteran Clary Jenion insured the win with a 20-foot bounce shot at 14:19.

Joseph in the Indian goal, and Jack Green for Vancouver were outstanding. The former stopped 25 and Green 23.

Nanaimo Native Sons have reopened their drive to lure Combines' Jim Kenna to the island. Kenna received another lucrative offer tonight, but is still undecided.

Shifty Johnny McKay of Indians announced his retirement—for the 1951 season only.

City Sure Of Hockey Until 1954

Victoria is assured of professional hockey at Memorial Arena for at least three years.

Carl Pendray, chairman of the Memorial Arena Commission, announced last night that the commission had completed a three-year contract with Lester Patrick for use of the arena for professional hockey. Terms were not released.

Negotiations for Patrick were handled by George Gregory, his attorney. Pendray and R. W. Davies formed the commission negotiating committee.

Stake in Game Is First Place In Association

First place in the Victoria and District Cricket Association will be at stake today when Oak Bay meets Inco in a match at 2:30 p.m. Five C's and Albions tangle in the other match at Beacon Hill at the same time.

Oak Bay at present holds a one-point margin over Inco but will have to snap out of a mild slump to hold the lead. Bays have a tie, a win and a loss in their last three games after winning their first six starts. Inco has seven victories and two defeats.

Sunday's game between Alcos and Albions, originally scheduled for Macdonald Park, has been switched to Beacon Hill.

Oak Bay line-up follows: Pakkins, Sparks, Odgers, Stewart, Derbyshire, Dutton, Thornton, Gauvreaux, Reynolds, Wright and Elliot.

Nanaimo Fish, Game Group Plans Salmon Derby

Special to The Colonist
NANAIMO, July 13.—The Nanaimo Fish and Game Association this year enters the field of large, fully organized, one-day fish derbies.

Nanaimo's event will take place Sunday, August 26, with fishing in adjacent waters from 5 a.m. to 4 p.m. Plans are now well advanced and the prize list completed.

Heaviest coho will win a Fibreglass salmon-rod and reel; second-heaviest, a Fibreglass salmon-rod; heaviest spring, a camp gas stove; heaviest fish of either species entered by a junior, a telescopic fresh-water rod, reel and line, and for all-whether fishermen or not—a weight-guessing contest bringing a radio to the person guessing closest to the combined weights of the two winning coho and the winning spring.

BOUNDARIES SET
Details of the derby were announced by chairman Ted Barsby, who said waters will be confined to a line commencing at Dods Narrows, thence up the northwesterly shore of Gabriola Island to Entrance Island light-house, thence a straight line in a northwesterly direction to Grey Rocks.

Contestants must check out at the island in Piper's Lagoon, the anchorage in Nanaimo or the yacht club.

Contestants must use rod and reel, held in the hand while playing the fish and any line other than wire may be used.

Those who participate in the weight-guessing contest must make their guess when they purchase their tickets.

MERCHANTS HELP
Nanaimo merchants are co-operating in the derby, which probably will become a big annual event here. The federal fisheries boat will be used for patrol purposes. An aggressive Fish and Game committee is busy putting over the big derby.

The association turned down the Nanaimo Chamber of Commerce protest against fishing regulations in Rivers Inlet and Phillips Arm.

Dominion fisheries, which came into operation recently, call for the procuring of a license and a daily report to fisheries officials. Catch limit is three salmon daily in Rivers Inlet from August 1 to September 15 and in Phillips Arm from June 1 to October 31.

The regulations imposed by the fisheries department were held good by the game association. It was suggested that the area in question should be closed to all fishing.

Barsby said the Chamber of Commerce apparently was looking at the situation from the tourist angle, but the big American boats actually did not put a dollar into Canada during their visits, as they came plentifully supplied with everything they need.

Association opposed introduction of Boundary Bay Brant regulations for Vancouver Island, declaring them to be unnecessary and a possible hardship on island hunters.

Further effort will be made to have game warning signs placed on highways. A member reported seeing a motorist cross a white line to run down a willow grouse and chicks.

On suggestion of Reg Goodman, inquiry will be made into red tape involved in the event of a game accident on the highway.

Mr. Goodman said some Lady-smith loggers had accidentally struck a deer, which they butchered and reported to police. It took them interminable time to have the matter cleared.

DOG PROBLEM
Deer reports are good. Many fawns have been seen, with numerous bucks and does and in some instances good numbers of twin fawns, but the problem of wild dogs is still serious. One member saved a doe, almost spent, from two of these dogs.

Some progress has been made on the study of placing bass in Quesset Lake near Nanaimo.

Suggestion that leeches, found in domestic ducklings, might also be affecting young mallards, was thrown out by Alf Bailey.

Blue and willow grouse are plentiful, but reports on pheasants have not been numerous.

Jack Cottle urged an annual survey of elk on the island, believing that the island herds can be made to prosper with proper care and attention and introduction of some surplus stock from national parks. The island game biologist, D. J. Robinson, is now surveying the island elk country.

Big Welcome No Help

A's Crushed by Tigers In 14-6 Series Opener

His first two swings. His first circuit smash came in the first inning with Butch Moran aboard to climax a four-run start. He hit his second off Brk in the second immediately after Moran had sent Osborn to the showers with a three-run homer.

Four of the five Tacoma runs in the second came after the A's had again failed to complete an inning-ending double play.

But for the big early lead, Victoria might have made it close. Mel Kresovich needed all of his big lead and was several times in danger of being replaced as the A's reached him for 13 hits. However, the losers faltered each time they had a big inning in prospect. Double plays, one of them on some bad baserunning by Milt Martin, wiped out three scoring chances.

PLATE LEADERS
Martin, with four singles in five trips, and Gene Thompson, with a double, two singles and two walks for a perfect night, led the A's at the plate but there was no consistency in the attack with the sixth and seventh-place hitters unable to find the range. The series will end today with the usual afternoon-evening twin bill. John Tierney and Ron Smith will do the mound work for the A's. Tacoma will send Henry Miller, big negro pitcher, and rookie Hal Dodeward to the hill.

HOMERUN ROUTE
The Tigers took the home-run route to their big early lead. Vince DiMaggio, eldest of the three famous brothers, hit the ball over the fence on each of his first three swings.

Vancouver and Spokane, playing the fourth and third place clubs, respectively, last night, helped out the four second-division outfits in the W.L. as they continued their breakneck pace at the top of the standings.

GAIN HALF GAME
The Indians finally cut into the three-game lead the Caps have been nursing—but only because they played two games to Vancouver's one. Playing at home, Spokane twofisted the third-place Salem Senators twice, 2-0 and 7-5, to move within two-and-a-half games of the lead.

Vancouver, also at home, had to come from behind to edge the ambitious Wenatchee Chiefs, 4-3. Catcher John Ritchey, league-leading hitter, provided the tying and winning runs in the eighth when he hit an inside-the-park home run with Bob McGuire, who had doubled, on the bags.

Yakima Bears, a first-division threat of late, tossed two south-paws at the Tri-City Braves and were rewarded with a double shutout. Ted Savarese pitched a one-hitter in the seven-inning opener to come out on top 1-0. Then, Larry Powell, the clever veteran, scattered eight hits to good advantage in the finale to score a 2-0 triumph.

Seattle won 6-0 over the first-division Tacoma Rainiers. First game (seven innings): Seattle 6, Tacoma 0. Second game: Seattle 6, Tacoma 0. Third game: Seattle 6, Tacoma 0.

Portland won 4-0 over the second-division Eugene Emeralds. First game (seven innings): Portland 4, Eugene 0. Second game: Portland 4, Eugene 0. Third game: Portland 4, Eugene 0.

San Francisco won 3-0 over the third-division Los Angeles Angels. First game (seven innings): San Francisco 3, Los Angeles 0. Second game: San Francisco 3, Los Angeles 0. Third game: San Francisco 3, Los Angeles 0.

Oakland won 2-0 over the fourth-division San Diego Padres. First game (seven innings): Oakland 2, San Diego 0. Second game: Oakland 2, San Diego 0. Third game: Oakland 2, San Diego 0.

Pittsburgh won 1-0 over the fifth-division Cincinnati Reds. First game (seven innings): Pittsburgh 1, Cincinnati 0. Second game: Pittsburgh 1, Cincinnati 0. Third game: Pittsburgh 1, Cincinnati 0.

St. Louis won 1-0 over the sixth-division Philadelphia Phillies. First game (seven innings): St. Louis 1, Philadelphia 0. Second game: St. Louis 1, Philadelphia 0. Third game: St. Louis 1, Philadelphia 0.

Chicago won 1-0 over the seventh-division New York Yankees. First game (seven innings): Chicago 1, New York 0. Second game: Chicago 1, New York 0. Third game: Chicago 1, New York 0.

Boston won 1-0 over the eighth-division Washington Senators. First game (seven innings): Boston 1, Washington 0. Second game: Boston 1, Washington 0. Third game: Boston 1, Washington 0.

The Sportlight

By GRANTLAND RICE

Rabe Ruth hit his major peak on the day he struck off his 60th home run, back in 1927.

Ty Cobb hit his big peak the year he finished leading American League hitters in 11 out of 12 consecutive seasons.

But Ben Hogan is the mountain with three peaks, in what might easily be the most phenomenal three years sport has ever known.

I happened to be at the Riviera course in the Los Angeles Open in 1950 when he had difficulty in rising from a chair and sitting down again—a still half-wrecked cripple who shot a 280 possibly played nine holes, or could have broken 90.

I was at Merion last June when his legs started to give out and to swell, with six holes left on the final round of the U.S. Open. These swelling legs were so badly cramped he could just about walk. Yet he finished in a tie and won the play-off next day, after a doctor had worked over him until 1 a.m.

These were certain tall peaks, far beyond the work of big stars in the past, since physical fitness, or rather unfitness, played a leading role in his Mount Everest ascents.

But his third stand at Oakland Hills, Detroit, was no physical handicap to consider, was just as fine a deed as even Hogan has yet brought about. For his final round was a magical matter of concentration and determination that has never before been equaled in golf.

In this last round Hogan proved again the tremendous hold he has upon head, heart, nerves and physical structure. Only those who know and understand at least part of the psychological or mental side of golf can partly estimate the power of this grip upon himself.

Bobby Jones and Walter Hagen, among others, have estimated that the mental or emotional side of golf amounts to 75 per cent.

There are numberless golfers who have fine swings. But only a small number of these can win big tournaments.

The Job at Oakland Hills

Hogan had started badly in his first round over a course that had them all in a daze. He hadn't been much better in the second round. In his third round he practically had the tournament won after the first 12 holes. He was then three under par. At which spot he suddenly blew wide open and finished four over par on the last six holes. So there was the job to be done all over again.

Knowing the length and killing penalties at Oakland Hills it seemed impossible that under such a severe strain and such a killing test anyone could possibly, in Hogan's place, have fired a par-equaling 70. A 70 wouldn't have done Hogan any good. He would have lost his title by a stroke to Clayton Heathcote.

Here was a golf course where one was dead sure that par might not be equaled in any round—that par would never be broken. Hogan is one of the longer hitters. Yet more than once he had to call on his spoon off the tee, which forced him to use a much longer iron for his second. But in this final and deciding fourth round, with the pressure at its roughest, Hogan not only shot a 67—three under par, which would have been 11 under normal par—but he finished his last nine-stroke-run in 32 strokes.

His 32 on the final nine at Oakland Hills, ending with a birdie three on the 450-yard last hole, was certainly the most spectacular final nine holes any golf championship has ever known.

The feature parts of golf include physical witness and a certain amount of physical strength. Beyond this they include ability to concentrate without a lapse—plus unbreakable determination. They include keen judgment, complete control of mind over physical action.

Hogan's swing may be no better than Sammy Snead's or Bobby Locke's, but Hogan has more of everything it takes to win than any golfer I ever saw. This has been true certainly for the last four years of his career.

Mill Cinders Seen City Fire Hazard

Hazardous conditions which could lead to serious fire exist in the city's mill cinder dumps, according to a report of the extremely dry weather.

Quarried on the fire danger in the north end of the city, Chief Robert J. Hocking said yesterday there is a definite fire hazard from the cinders which could erupt from the dumps.

The report of the fire hazard is based on a survey made by the city's fire department. Hocking said that the cinders are a fire hazard because they are extremely dry and could catch fire easily.

Sooke Fires May Be Waning, But Danger Still Not Over

Two big fires, burning since Thursday morning in the Sooke Lake area, showed signs of waning, slightly yesterday, as 200 firefighters battled all day against the flames.

Cooler weather plus a natural thinning out of heavy undergrowth in the fire's path helped to remove the situation, although the general critical fire danger was by no means over.

Maintenance Needs Of Meters Heavy

An average of 288 parking meters each month required some form of mechanical repair or adjustment during 1950, city engineer Cyril Jones said in his annual report on road work.

Total number of meters on downtown streets, he said, is 977.

The engineer explained that these men were employed full time in the maintenance department and that until September, when the personnel was reduced to two.

Pirates, Pets Chief Interest at Children's Playgrounds

Blackbeards and Captain Kidds were present aplenty at Williams and Windsor Parks in Oak Bay yesterday as playground committee sponsored Pirate Day. Mary Jane James and her brother, David, seem more amused than frightened at expression and weapons of five-year-old Derek Melville.

Mutiny in large proportions seems ready to erupt here as problem of how to divide hidden treasure arises. Successful searchers for treasure, a can filled with 100 pennies, are, left to right, John Brynjolfsson, Charles Cornish and Judith Anderson.

While Oak Bay youngsters were playing pirates, pet show was in full swing at Beacon Hill Park. Two anxious entrants in show, Ange, left, and Spook, await their turn with eight-year-old Sharon Melville. Other entrants included rabbits, turtles and pet caterpillar.

Another unusual entrant was black cat held by Roberta Bowden. Black cats aren't unusual unless they are named Rusty like this one. Exchanging cat's remarks with Rusty is Spook, a white cat, proudly held by her owner, Rosemary Johnson. Colonist photos by Jim Ryan and Bud Kinsman.

The crowning of the Queen of Sponsors, Mrs. A. Sparks, was highlight of the second-day activities of the annual B.C. Women of the Moose conference. The crowning took place at the R. of P. hall following a luncheon at Langford's Banquet Club. Later in the evening a banquet was held at the club and was followed by individual ceremonies. Pictured above are the queen and her attendants in the front row, from left to right, Mrs. A. Sparks, Vancouver; Mrs. F. Shaw, Mrs. M. Faganello, Nanaimo; Mrs. Sparks, Mrs. H. Cannon, Nanaimo; and Mrs. A. Bird. Second row, Mrs. E. Cooper, Mrs. C. Giles, Mrs. M. Bell, Mrs. D. McIntosh, M. Fentham, Mrs. E. Johnson and Mrs. D. Crooks. Back row, Mrs. R. Thompson, Mrs. M. Brown, Mrs. M. Grant, Mrs. F. Walsh, Mrs. P. Pratt. Graduate Regent Mrs. D. Guelph and her attendant, Mrs. L. Bassett.

City Engineer Reports Spending of $1,370,784

Gross expenditures made last year by the city-engineer's department totalled $1,370,784, engineer Cyril Jones said in his annual report released yesterday.

Of this amount, $546,806 was balanced by credits received on account of expenditures made by the department, leaving a net expenditure of $823,978. Of this net expenditure, $202,000 was charged to the account of the Street Loan By-Law, 1948, $4,047 charged to scattered local improvement by-laws and $40,677 provided from tax sale by-law funds, leaving a net expenditure of $621,971 to be met from general revenue.

Mr. Jones reported that 4.7 miles of paving was done during the year, about three miles of curbs, 3.5 miles of gutter, .34 miles of sanitary sewers and 2.1 miles of storm drains.

Mr. Jones also included some official statistics in his report: Area of the city is 4,540 acres or 75.5 square miles; estimated population 82,500; 68.4 miles of paved streets; 151.2 miles of all types of streets; 142 miles of concrete sidewalks, 138 miles of sewers and 116 miles of storm sewers.

Island Officials Modest In Bids for Royal Tour

A report from Ottawa indicating that Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip might spend a week's holiday somewhere on Vancouver Island during their tour of Canada last night drew enthusiastic comment from civic leaders.

But officials were modest about advancing reasons as to why their particular centre should be the one honored by the royal pair.

"I certainly feel that Vancouver Island can offer them some ideal spots for a holiday, but I wouldn't like to be too parochial," said Mayor Percy George.

"I'd have no hesitation in recommending Government House as their headquarters, though," the mayor added.

"We'd be very happy to have them, of course," commented Mayor Earle Westwood of Nanaimo, adding, however, that he thought Qualicum Beach might have more adequate facilities for such a holiday.

Mayor Westwood said Provincial Secretary W. T. Straith had promised full support to the Nanaimo request that the royal party pass through the Hub City on the way from Vancouver to Victoria.

Mayor J. A. Wragg of Duncan also thought Qualicum would be a more suitable spot for a royal holiday.

Police Changes Endorsed

Four promotions, a transfer, a resignation and the appointment of four new men to the police department were endorsed by the city police commission yesterday.

Constables H. Golmer, E. McKee, Barrie English and John Burdyny, who recently completed a police school, have been promoted from third to second-class

Allister Boyd, who has been working as a clerk in the detective office, becomes of age this month and Chief John Blackstock recommended he be transferred to the police force on probation for six months.

PROBATION
After interviewing 15 applicants, Chief Blackstock recommended to the commission that A. H. A. Clarke, John C. Rickerby, Stanley N. Mill and K. R. Walnwright be taken on the force on a probation period of six months.

The four men will be enrolled in a six-week police school to start Monday.

The resignation of Const. John Sweeney from the department was accepted by the commission. The commission also endorsed a recommendation that four men from the department attend the Seattle police revolver shoot on July 21 and 22.

City Man Gets $50 Fine For Drinking in Public

Donald B. Michael, 1141 Palmer, charged with consuming liquor in a public place, was convicted and fined $50 in city police court yesterday.

Accused was charged with the offense on July 2 in the C.A.C. Garden restaurant, 550 Fisgard Street.

"That bottle was never drunk out of and it didn't belong to me. It was never on the table," Michael said.

"I am satisfied there was consumption within the meaning of the act," Magistrate H. C. Hall said before passing sentence.

Active Sports Group Worker, Charles A. Jasper Dies at 68

Charles Arthur Jasper, 68, partner in the Jasper Trucking Co. and well known for his activities with local athletic and service organizations, died in Royal Jubilee Hospital Thursday after a lengthy illness.

Mr. Jasper had been a member of the Victoria West Football Club and an enthusiastic participant in many long-distance races held in the district. He was also official goal judge for the original Victoria Cougars, headed by Lester Patrick.

Searchers Find Lost Crewman

HONOLULU, July 13 (INS)—The navy reported Thursday that Ted Sierks, crew member of the yacht L'Apache, was picked up alive today in mid-Pacific after floating 30 hours in a life-ring.

Sierks, who fell overboard Wednesday morning, was reported weak but none the worse for his 30 hours in the water. Earlier it was feared he had become the first casualty of the Word of the dramatic rescue was flashed from the destroyer-escort Douglas A. Munro more than a half-hour after the navy announced it had abandoned a widespread air-and-sea search for the missing crewman.

RESUME RACE
Five yachts in the race from Los Angeles to Honolulu also had abandoned the search. They were winging toward Diamond Head, 800 miles away, under full canvas.

Race officials in Honolulu said additional handicaps may be granted the yachts which joined in the search.

First Civil Defense Class To Open in City Aug. 6

The first civil defense technical training school will open in Victoria on August 6. It was announced yesterday by provincial secretary W. T. Straith.

The school will train volunteer instructors in basic civil defense techniques.

A joint undertaking of the provincial government and the Greater Victoria civil defense area, the first school will last three weeks. It is to be attended by 30 volunteer candidates.

The school will be repeated in Vancouver when it concludes here, incorporating any changes or improvements found desirable.

TO GO MOBILE
"After a sufficient number of key personnel has been trained in these target cities, it is proposed that a group of instructors headed by A. Cathcart Bruce will become mobile, operating schools of civil defense instruction throughout the province," Mr. Straith said.

The school will provide basic

Official Tells Of Convention

Lionism is destined to become one of the greatest powers working for world peace, declared Harry Palmiston, international councillor of Lions International, at a Lions Club meeting yesterday.

Mr. Palmiston, who lives on Digby Island, reviewed a recent international convention at Atlantic City.

More than 28,000 delegates were registered, he said. Some convention functions drew 35,000 persons. The main parade included 55 bands, mostly Lion-sponsored youth groups, and 25 drum-and-bugle corps.

Plans Under Way Now For Labor Day Races

MARINE AND TRAVEL NEWS

By RAY WORMALD

Again this year the roar of powerful engines will be heard about Cordova Bay on Labor Day afternoon as the Victoria Inboard-Outboard Association presents its annual regatta.

Although the thrilling speed event is some time away, plans are nearing completion, reports Commodore Robert Watson.

The association some time ago raised funds to provide blind, one-handed boatbuilder, Arthur Barnes with a new artificial hand.

Approximately 30 high-powered vessels will enter the big regatta, Mr. Watson says, and speeds up to 90 miles an hour can be expected. Entries will come from Victoria, Vancouver and Seattle.

BIG CROWDS

More than 6,000 persons lined Cordova Bay to watch last year's program of aquatic thrills.

It is hoped the regatta will be attended by Ted Jones, Seattle, designer and engineer of the Sio-Mo-Shun—holder of several world speedboat records, and the only craft in speedboat race history to hold all world records at one time.

Victoria entries will include Brock Robertson's Yehudi, Wilfred Gough's Little Toot, Robert Watson's Saw-Sea, Patrick Cooper's I'll Do, Albert Peterson's Ju-C-I, and Kenneth Cameron's Hot Canary.

Entries from Vancouver will include James Huthison's Teaser III, Charles Kobus' Mercury VI, George Hensen's Sea-Bee, and Ben Berto's Thunderbird.

DOMO WINS

Walter Blandy's Domo took first place in Thursday's R.C.N. Yacht Club snipe race at Cadboro Bay.

Second and third were W. Ramsay in Rough Rider and Robert Goudy in Babe. There were six starters.

BUOY OUT

T. E. Morrison, transport department agent, yesterday announced that Repulse Point lighted buoy, Baynes Sound, is reported not burning; gas buoy No. 6, Fraser River, is back in operation; and that Cyril Rock Light, Strait of Georgia, has been relit.

CORRIENTES LEAVES

The Donaldson Line's Ss. Corrientes, a frequent visitor to this port, left Ogden Point Docks yesterday for Vancouver after discharging 325 tons of assorted cargo.

There were 125 tons of general merchandise from the United Kingdom and 200 tons from United States ports.

The combination cargo-passenger ship Topa Topa, owned by the Watarmen-Ss. Co., left here Thursday after loading 500,000 board feet of lumber for Japan.

PATTON IN RACE

George Patton, owner of the famed 48-foot motor yacht Aileen, yesterday announced his entry in the big International Power Boat Race, a predicted-log event, from Vancouver to Seattle, July 28 and 29.

In 1949, Mr. Patton became the only Canadian to win the capital-to-capital predicted-log race for cruisers from Olympia to Juneau, Alaska.

The month-end contest is sponsored by the International Power Boat Association, comprising 17 yacht clubs of the Pacific Northwest.

NAVY EXPANDING

Maritime and Quebec shipyards are to put 38 Second World War fighting ships back in shape for a new career with Canada's peacetime navy, the defense department said in Ottawa yesterday. They are being modernized to help the navy meet its planned objective of 100 warships by 1954.

U.K. Trade Off Balance

LONDON, July 13 (Reuters).—Britain's "visible trade gap"—the difference between import and export values—reached more than $423,000,000 last month, probably the worst since the crisis year of 1947.

Meanwhile, as dollar takings slumped, prospects of a formal conference of Commonwealth finance ministers waned.

Earlier today, financial circles had assumed such talks would be held, here or in Washington, about September. But a treasury spokesman indicated tonight he no longer expects such a conference at that time.

Undoubtedly there may be a need—either before or after September—for Commonwealth finance ministers to discuss various matters, notably the dollar position.

Dollars loom as a common problem. Britain's trade figures for June, published today, looked black.

The deterioration occurred before the stoppage of the Iranian oil flow at the end of June.
